ARRESTS.

Are to Follow Last Night's Disgraceful Fight.

Warrants Being Issued This Afternoon.

Police Are Gathering Names of Witnesses.

The prize fight between Sam C. Brown and Doc Calderwood last night in the Alden cannery factory, particulars of which appear in another column, will end in wholesale arrests.

The names of those present are being gathered by the police officers and these together with the principals will be "pinched."

This information was given out by City Attorney Ellsworth this afternoon. He said before night some of the warrants would be served.

The proprietors of the building will also proceed against the principals and abettors for forcibly entering the cannery factory.

The maximum penalty for prize fighting is $2,000 fine or five years imprisonment; and the extreme penalty for being present at a prize fight is a fine of $200 or one year's imprisonment.

Those who witnessed the disgrace are not talking so much this afternoon as they did this morning.

It is reported that Sam Brown got out of town on the Big Four train this afternoon.

THE SCHOOL FIRE.

It Has Constrained People to Call the Central a Fire Trap.

The fire in the Central school building Saturday has caused a sensation among the people of the city and now and then some conservative citizen is constrained to call the building which on week days houses 800 children a fire trap.

Even with the slight blaze of Saturday, had school been in session, many children would have been injured. The building has no fire escape worthy the name and there is but one stairway by which the building may be emptied. During the fire Saturday many teachers were at work and one of them, Miss Peck, fainted from the effects of the smoke and had the building really been on fire, as it started directly under the stairs, the teacher who swooned might have been rescued with difficulty. Had the room been full of children it is hard to tell what the result might have been.

Parents and teachers are nervous and a change is demanded. Everybody has a remedy to propose. The best plan of them all is one proposed by a prominent city official and a member of the board of education. It is to build a small furnace house in the rear of the Central building and move the heating apparatus outside. The basement now used for the heating could be used for the ungraded room now in the Congregational church. In two or three years the rent saved would pay for the addition.

DAVIES PEOPLE WIN.

Judge Coolidge Takes Some of the Complications Out of the Tunnel Muddle.

POWER TO OPEN THE SAFE.

It Is Given President Hamilton, Secretary Hollis and Treasurer
Davies.

Judge Coolidge this morning issued an order in the case of the Benton Harbor Electric Railway & Transit company, dissolving his order directing Vice President Deam to open the safe, dissolving his injunction against Hamilton, Hollis and Davies from transacting any business for the company and empowering the three last named gentlemen to open the safe and take possession of the books and papers of the company.

This is a temporary damper at least upon the hopes of Deam and puts the matter in just the same shape as it was before he began his injunction suit several weeks ago.

Mr. Davies, the treasurer, said this afternoon that the only hindrance to immediate resumption of work on the road was the fact that the board of directors still remained a tie—3 and 3. The Davies people are in gleeful spirits over the present outcome and they will now proceed to open the safe and get their matters in shape.

The following is the order of the court.

"This court heretofore after a full consideration of the situation and the facts presented having refused to appoint a receiver for the Benton Harbor Electric Railway & Transit company until after a full hearing of the cause on its merits and the matter of the preliminary injunction having been considered, it is ordered that the restraining order issued in the cause on the first day of September, 1897, staying that part of a former order of this court, wherein it was ordered and directed that Henry D. Deam be directed to open the safe of said company and deliver the combination thereof to the proper officer thereof, is hereby set aside and further, that the injunction and restraining order issued by this court on the first day of September, 1897, directing and forbidding John W. Hamilton, William H. Hollis and Charles G. Davies from in any manner or at any time taking possession of converting to their own use any of the books, papers, records etc., and from opening the safe of said company, is set aside and dissolved, and the said John W. Hamilton, William H. Hollis and Charles G. Davies are hereby authorized and directed to take as officers of such Benton Harbor Electric Railway & Transit company, immediate possession of all the books, papers, records, memoranda, notes, contracts, field notes, surveys, profiles, plots, maps and other writings of the said company and all other property of said company and also to at once open the safe of said company. Dr. John Bell, of the city of Benton Harbor, is directed to deliver to the said William H. Hollis, John W. Hamilton and Charles G. Davies as officers of such company, all books, papers, records and other property that may be in his possession as custodian of the property of said company by virtue of an order of this court heretofore made.

DR. TALMAGE ON THE MENACE OF THE CRIMINAL CLASSES.

The Dynamite That Threatens Society—A Plea For Better Prisons and the Reclamation of the Vicious—The Menace of the Idle—The Uprooting Classes.

(Copyright, 1897, by American Press Association.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—In this sermon Dr. Talmage in a startling way speaks of the dangers threatening our great towns and cities and shows how the slumbering fires may be put out. His text is Psalm lxxx, 13, "The boar out of the wood doth waste it, and the wild beast of the field doth devour it."

By this homely but expressive figure David sets forth the bad influences which in olden time broke in upon God's heritage, as with swine's foot tramping and as with swine's snout uprooting the vineyards of prosperity. What was true then is true now. There have been enough trees of righteousness planted to overshadow the whole earth had it not been for the axmen who hewed them down. The temple of truth would long ago have been completed had it not been for the iconoclasts who defaced the walls and battered down the pillars. The whole earth would have been an Eschol of ripened clusters had it not been that "the boar has wasted it and the wild beast of the field devoured it."

I propose to point out to you those whom I consider to be the destructive classes of society. First, the public criminals. You ought not to be surprised that these people make up a large proportion of many communities. In 1869 of the 49,000 people who were incarcerated in the prisons of the country 32,000 were of foreign birth. Many of them were the very desperadoes of society, oozing into the slums of our cities, waiting for an opportunity to riot and steal and debauch, joining the large gang of American thugs and cutthroats. There are in our cities people whose entire business in life is to commit crime. That is as much their business as jurisprudence or medicine or merchandise is your business. To it they bring all their energies of body, mind and soul, and they look upon the interregnum which they spend in prison as so much unfortunate loss of time, just as you look upon an attack of influenza or rheumatism which fastens you in the house for a few days. It is their lifetime business to pick pockets, and blow up safes, and shoplift, and ply the panel game, and they have as much pride of skill in their business as you have in yours when you upset the argument of an opposing counsel, or cure a gunshot fracture which other surgeons have given up, or force a turn in the market so you buy goods just before they go up 20 per cent. It is their business to commit crime, and I do not suppose that once in a year the thought of the immorality strikes them. Added to these professional criminals, American and foreign, there is a large class of men who are more or less industrious in crime. Drunkenness is responsible for much of the theft, since it confuses a man's ideas of property, and he gets his hands on things that do not belong to him. Rum is responsible for much of the assault and battery, inspiring men to sudden bravery, which they must demonstrate, though it be on the face of the next gentleman.

Reclaim the Criminal.

You help to pay the board of every criminal, from the sneak thief who snatches a spool of cotton up to some man who enacts a "Black Friday." More than that, it touches your heart in the moral depression of the community. You might as well think to stand in a closely confined room where there are 50 people and yet not breathe the vitiated air as to stand in a community where there are so many of the depraved without somewhat being contaminated. What is the fire that burns your store down compared with the conflagration which consumes your morals? What is the theft of the gold and silver from your money safe compared with the theft of your children's virtue? We are all ready to arraign criminals. We shout at the top of our voice, "Stop thief!" and when the police get on the track we come out hatless and in our slippers and assist in the arrest. We come round the bawling ruffian and hustle him off to justice, and when he gets in prison what do we do for him? With great gusto we put on the handcuffs and the hobbles, but what preparation are we making for the day when the handcuffs and hobbles come off? Society seems to say to these criminals, "Villain, go in there and rot!" when it ought to say: "You are an offender against the law, but we mean to give you an opportunity to repent; we mean to help you. Here are Bibles and tracts and Christian influences. Christ died for you. Look and live." Vast improvements have been made by introducing industry into the prison, but we want something more than hammers and shoe lasts to reclaim these people. Aye, we want more than sermons on the Sabbath day. Society must impress these men with the fact that it does not enjoy their suffering and that it is attempting to reform and elevate them. The majority of criminals suppose that society has a grudge against them, and they in turn have a grudge against society.

Why So Many Go Back.

They are harder in heart and more infuriate when they come out of jail than when they went in. Many of the people who go to prison go again and again and again. Some years ago, of 1,500 prisoners who during the year had been in Sing Sing 400 had been there before. In a house of correction in the country, where during a certain reach of time there had been 5,000 people, more than 3,000 had been there before. So, in one case the prison and in the other case the house of correction left them just as bad as they were before. The secretary of one of the benevolent societies of New York saw a lad 15 years of age who had spent three years of his life in prison, and he said to the lad, "What have they done for you to make you better?" "Well," replied the lad, "the first time I was brought up before the judge he said, 'You ought to be ashamed of yourself.' And then I committed a crime again, and I was brought up before the same judge, and he said, 'You rascal!' And after awhile I committed some other crime and I was brought before the same judge, and he said, 'You ought to be hanged!'" That is all they had done for him in the way of reformation and salvation. "Oh," you say, "these people are incorrigible." I suppose there are hundreds of persons this day lying in the prison bunks who would leap up at the prospect of reformation if society would only allow them a way into decency and respectability. "Oh," you say, "I have no patience with these rogues." I ask you in reply, how much better would you have been made if you had been in prison for a year?

any spolia, and suppose your early manhood and womanhood had been covered with rags and filth and decent society had turned its back upon you and left you to consort with vagabonds and wharf rats, how much better would you have been? I have no sympathy with that executive clemency which would let crime run loose or which would sit in the gallery of a courtroom weeping because some hard hearted wretch is brought to justice, but I do say that the safety and life of the community demand more potential influences in behalf of these offenders.

No Pure Air, No Sunlight.

I stepped into one of the prisons of one of our great cities and the air was like that of the Black Hole of Calcutta. As the air swept through the wicket it almost knocked me down. No sunlight. Young men who had committed their first crime crowded in among old offenders. I saw there one woman, with a child almost blind, who had been arrested for the crime of poverty, who was waiting until the slow law could take her to the almshouse, where she rightfully belonged, but she was thrust in there with her child, amid the most abandoned wretches of the town. Many of the offenders in that prison sleeping on the floor, with nothing but a vermin covered blanket over them. Those people, crowded, and wan, and wasted, and half suffocated, and infuriated. I said to the men, "How do you stand it here?" "God knows," said one man. "We have to stand it." Oh, they will pay you when they get out! Where they burned down one house, they will burn three. They will strike deeper the assassin's knife. They are this minute plotting worse burglaries. Many of the jails are the best place I know of to manufacture footpads, vagabonds and cutthroats. Yale college is not so well calculated to make scholars, nor Harvard so well calculated to make scientists, nor Princeton so well calculated to make theologians, as the American jail is calculated to make criminals. All that these men do not know of crime after they have been in that style of dungeon for some time, satanic machination cannot teach them. Every hour these jails stand they challenge the Lord Almighty to smite the cities. I call upon the people to rise in their wrath and demand a reformation. I call upon the judges of our courts to expose the infamy. I demand, in behalf of those incarcerated prisoners, fresh air and clear sunlight, and, in the name of him who had not where to rest his head, a couch to rest on at night. In the insufferable stench and sickening surroundings of some of the prisons, there is nothing but disease for the body, idleness for the mind and death for the soul. Stifled air and darkness and vermin never turned a thief into an honest man. We want men like John Howard and Sir William Blackstone and women like Elizabeth Fry, to do for the prisons of the United States what those people did in other days for the prisons of England. I thank God for what Isaac T. Hopper and Dr. Wines and Mr. Harris and scores of others have done in the way of prison reform, but we want something more radical before upon our cities will come the blessing of him who said, "I was in prison and ye came unto me."

Bad Men in Places of Power.

In this class of uprooting and devouring population are untrustworthy officials. "Woe unto thee, O land, when thy king is a child and thy princes drink in the morning!" It is a great calamity to a city when bad men get into public authority. Why was it that in New York there was such unparalleled crime between 1866 and 1871? It was because the judges of police in that city for the most part were as corrupt as the vagabonds that came before them for trial. These were the days of high carnival for election frauds, assassination and forgery. We had the "whisky ring," and the "Tammany ring," and the "Eric ring." There was one man during those years that got $128,000 in one year for serving the public. In a few years it was estimated that there were $50,000,000 of public treasure squandered. In those times the criminal had only to wink to the judge, or his lawyer would wink for him, and the question was decided for the defendant. Of the 8,000 people arrested in that city in one year only 3,000 were punished. These little matters were "fixed up," while the interests of society were "fixed down." You know as well as I that a criminal who escapes only opens the door of other criminalities. It is no compliment to public authority when we have in all the cities of the country, walking abroad, men and women notorious for criminality, unwhipped of justice. They are pointed out to you in the street day by day. There you find what are called the "fences," the men who stand between the thief and the honest man, sheltering the thief, and at great price handing over the goods to the owner to whom they belong. There you will find those who are called the "skimmers," the men who hover around Wall street and State street and Third street with great sleight of hand in bonds and stocks. There you find the funeral thieves, the people who go and sit down and mourn with families and pick their pockets. And there you find the "confidence men," who borrow money of you because they have a dead child in the house and want to bury it, when they never had a house nor a family, or they want to go to England and get a large property there, and they want you to pay their way, and they will send the money back by the very next mail. There are the "harbor thieves," the "shoplifters," the "pickpockets," famous all over the cities. Hundreds of them with their faces in the "rogues' gallery," yet doing nothing for the last five or ten years but defraud society and escape justice. When these people go unarrested and unpunished, it is putting a high premium upon vice and saying to the young criminals of this country, "What a safe thing it is to be a great criminal." Let the law swoop upon them. Let it be known in this country that crime will have no quarter; that the detectives are after it; that the police club is being brandished; that the iron door of the prison is being opened; that the judge is ready to call the case. Too great leniency to criminals is too great severity to society.

The Menace of the Idle.

Among the uprooting and devouring classes in our midst are the idle. Of course I do not refer to the people who are getting old or to the sick or to those who cannot get work, but I tell you to look out for those athletic men and women who will not work. When the French nobleman was asked why he kept busy when he had so large a property, he said, "I keep on engraving so I may not hang myself." I do not care who the man is, he cannot afford to be idle. It is from the idle classes that the criminal classes are Severe Pains in the Stomach—Indigestion and Constipation—Health and Strength Restored—How It Was Accomplished.

"I have been troubled very much with indigestion and constipation for the last ten years. Five years ago I was confined to my bed and suffered severe pains in my stomach. These spells would occur four or five times a day and were almost unendurable. I was weak and nervous and could not eat anything but the simplest food. I read about so many wonderful cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla that I determined to try it. The first bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Pills were enough to convince me that I had at last found the right kind of medicine. I continued taking them until I was well. Last spring after my baby was born I did not regain my strength. I resorted to Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Pills and they restored me to health." Mrs. LOUISA EBERSON, Fosston, Minnesota.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Be sure to get Hood's and only Hood's.

JAPAN WON'T WAR US

Prof. Fukushima Says the Japanese People Love the United States.

VERY INTERESTING ADDRESS.

A Japanese Orator Entertained a Large Audience at the Methodist Church.

Prof. Fukushima, a native of Japan, a professor in a Tokio college, and former Japanese minister to Hawaii, addressed an audience last evening at the First Methodist church which filled all the pews and required the carrying in of many chairs.

Unlike the lectures of most foreigners this address was wonderfully entertaining and instructive. The professor is an orator; he speaks English clearly and well, and his native grace and gestures make eloquent and forceful his words. He was dressed in native costume, and impressed the audience as a man of rare attainments and intelligence. If an American he would win fame among his fellows.

Japan has enjoyed wonderful progress in the past quarter of a century and he attributed it all to the Christian civilization planted among them by American missionaries. The people of Japan appreciate and love the United States and the newspapers who talk about a prospective war between the two countries over Hawaii do not know the hearts of the Japanese people. All that Japan wants is damages and the matter will be settled by arbitration.

"Thirty years ago," he said, "Japan had no railroads, today you may travel over the country by rail. Thirty years ago coal oil or kerosene was first introduced into Japan. Now we have gas and the streets of our cities are illuminated by electricity. Twenty-five years ago Japan had no newspapers but now we have 766 papers and magazines, 188 of which are dailies. Twenty-five years ago we had no public schools while now 85 per cent of our children are in school, learning not only our own alphabet but your A B C, and some the German alphabet. Twenty-five years ago Japan had no man of war, but now her navy is second only to that of England, and she has a standing army of 200,000."

All this advancement he attributed to the enlightening influence of Christianity. In a few things, however, he believed that the old Japanese customs excelled. One of the first principles taught the Japanese young woman was that she should not talk too much. At a reception in this country the professor was seated beside a young lady who wore him by her continual fusillade of questions. Finally he said: "Lady, in Japan I was taught that there was no such thing as perpetual motion but I have discovered it in your country." "Where?" enthusiastically inquired his tormentor. "On the lips of the most enlightened American ladies." The questioner ceased from troubling and the weary professor was at rest.

Japanese always turn to the left and he told an amusing incident as to how he nearly ran into a lady in San Francisco when he first landed in this country. In Japan it is easy to tell a married from an unmarried woman and he confessed his inability to tell the difference in this country. Married women in Japan used to shave their eyebrows and blacken their teeth with ink in order to look so hideous as not to win the admiration of other men. All women wear a sash and those married wear the bow tied at the back. If the woman is a widow resolved not to marry again the bow is tied in front but generally it soon goes back.

There is yet missionary work in Japan to do, there is Buddhism and other religions to overcome and the professor made an earnest closing plea that when the church sent more missionaries it should send along its prayers.

The special music by the choir was a feature of the wonderfully helpful service.

In Heart Disease It Works Like Magic. For years my greatest enemy was of heart disease. From uneasiness and palpitation it developed into abnormal action, thumping, fluttering and choking sensations. LITTLE LEFT NOW.

Story of a Niles Man Who Was Once Wealthy.

NILES, Nov. 8.—When Jesse Gitchell returned home Thursday night, after spending the day in the country, he found his wife and son and all his household goods missing. His wife, it is alleged, left him because he could no longer support his family.

Gitchell comes from one of the oldest and wealthiest families in Niles. When his father died a few years ago he inherited about $15,000, a large farm and other property, but soon plunged into speculation.

Farm land purchased in the west proved to be a marab, on a greater portion of which one could raise ducks or like a boat ride. Other ventures were equally unfortunate.

Niles Banking Institutions Merged Into One.

NILES, Nov. 8.—The First State Savings bank and the Citizens' National bank, of this city, have consolidated, and the business of the two institutions opened this morning in the office of the latter. The business will be continued under the name of the Citizens' National.

All deposits received by the Savings bank will be paid, when desired, by the Citizens' National bank, who will collect all loans that have been made by the Savings bank.

In order that no changes need be made nor annoyance caused to depositors of the Savings bank by reason of the transferring of accounts to the Citizens' National bank, a savings department will be opened by that bank and all the accounts will be transferred to that department, the same pass books being used as are now in use, so that it will not be even necessary for any depositor to call unless he or she desires to use their money.

The savings department will be under the management of W. S. Sinclair, late cashier of the Savings bank.

The board of directors of the Citizens' National bank will be increased by the addition of the directors of the Savings bank and the working force by the acquisition of W. S. Sinclair.

SEEBACH AND THE AGENT.

A German Story of an American Attempt to Boom a Sewing Machine.

The following story, which was published in German in connection with the death of Marie Seebach, the noted German actress, shows very well the conception of American affairs which still prevails in Germany to a certain extent. Seebach was here more than 20 years ago, and it is scarcely possible that such an incident as is described would have taken place then, but many such stories are told in Germany today as illustrative of American enterprise.

According to this reminiscence Marie Seebach one day received a message that a gentleman wished to see her. She told the servant to send him to her drawing room in the hotel, and when he arrived he introduced himself as a certain Colonel Smith. Then he plunged at the object of his visit and said that he represented a certain well known make of sewing machines.

"I have already heard," he said, "that you are a great artist. I want to find out if you are a good business woman as well. Do you want to make some money?"

"Oh, I've no objections to make to that," she said, "if it is possible in a perfectly correct and dignified way."

"Oh, it's in the most correct way possible that I propose," the visitor continued, "and I offer you $10,000 for doing it."

"What have I to do in return?" asked Seebach.

"Nothing in the world," the colonel replied, and as he noticed the expression of astonishment on her face he went on: "I told you that I came from a sewing machine company—one of the largest in the world. All that I demand of you in return for the $10,000 is that as Marguerite in the spinning wheel scene from 'Faust' you will use one of our sewing machines instead of the wheel, and just keep it in motion for a few seconds. Then we would let handbills drop from the gallery, saying that the machine used by Marie Seebach was made by our firm."

The actress is said to have hesitated for a second, but, in the end, her respect for Goethe's tragedy is described as the feeling which saved her artistic reputation.

This story is of a type that disappeared from general use 40 years ago. It is of the kind told about P. T. Barnum in the earlier days of his career, but stories of the kind still pass muster in Europe, although a press agent who attempted anything of the kind in this country would soon lose his job.—New York Sun.

BLOODY PRIZE FIGHT.

S. C. Brown and Doc Calderwood Engage in a Nineteen Round Contest.

CALDERWOOD DECLARED VICTOR

Battle Pulled Off at the Alden Factory in the Presence of 50 Local Sports.

A brutal prize fight was pulled off last night at the Alden canning factory between Sam Brown and Doc Calderwood. The men fought like beasts for 19 rounds when Brown sank to his knees and was counted out, the referee deciding the contest in favor of Calderwood.

Brown claims that the decision was unfair. He maintains that he was counting off the seconds himself and that when he had been on his knees just six seconds the referee gave the fight to Calderwood. Others claim that the decision was fair and that victory belonged to Calderwood.

It was the most brutal contest ever seen in this city. The men fought for the gate receipts which amounted to $50. There were 50 sports in attendance who paid $1 each to see the sanguinary struggle. The fight was called at 11:20 o'clock and lasted nearly two hours. The affair was arranged with great secrecy and the officers were not apprised until after the combat ended.

There have been strained relations between Brown and Calderwood for some time and when it was quietly announced that they would meet last night a fierce struggle was expected. The men went at each other with the ferocity of beasts and the blood flowed copiously. The floor of the room looked like the floor of a slaughter house. It was red with the gore of the two gladiators.

Round after round was fought until the principals were so exhausted that they could scarcely stand on their feet. With their faces cut and the blood dripping over their bodies the sight was most revolting and at one time it was thought advisable to separate the men to save a tragedy. The fight ended with the nineteenth round and the purse went to Calderwood. Brown was awarded a gratuitous gift of $25 after the fight was over.

Brown claims that he sprained his hand in the second round and fought at a great disadvantage, the injured arm being almost helpless.

The proprietors of the building knew nothing about the affair, and the fight occurred without their knowledge or permission.

TO THE PUBLIC.

As a stranger soliciting a share of your patronage it is but just to you and to myself that I make some mention of my fitness for the work I would undertake. I come of a medical family, my father, brother and many relatives being physicians. I have attended and hold credentials from leading homo-pathic and allopathic medical colleges. For eighteen years I have successfully conducted a large practice. I have held high office in State and National medical societies, and received honorary professional recognition abroad. I have had considerable hospital experience, am something of a medical writer and author, and have been professor in reputable medical colleges.

These frank statements can be easily verified. If they commend me to your confidence it will give me pleasure to professionally advise and assist healthward all who need and desire my services.

I am prepared to and will practice all branches of medicine and surgery, but because of special research, experience and success in this direction, greatly prefer and particularly invite those suffering from obscure, complicated, delicate, and all chronic or lingering diseases to consult me. Obsolete cases that others have failed to cure are solicited.

My office is at 112 East Main street, one door east of the postoffice. Benton Harbor. Respectfully, C. EDSON COVEY, M. D. 20619

His Reason.

Ex-Senator Gibson of Maryland, as befores a man of his state, has a taste in the matter of terrapin which is second in correctness to nobody's. He invited Senator Lindsay of Kentucky to supper once upon a time and terrapin held the place of honor on the menu.

"Senator," said the host, "let me give you a little of this terrapin."

"No," said Senator Lindsay in a tone like the roll of distant thunder.

"Better have some," persisted the Maryland man, "it's very fine."

"No," rumbled Senator Lindsay.

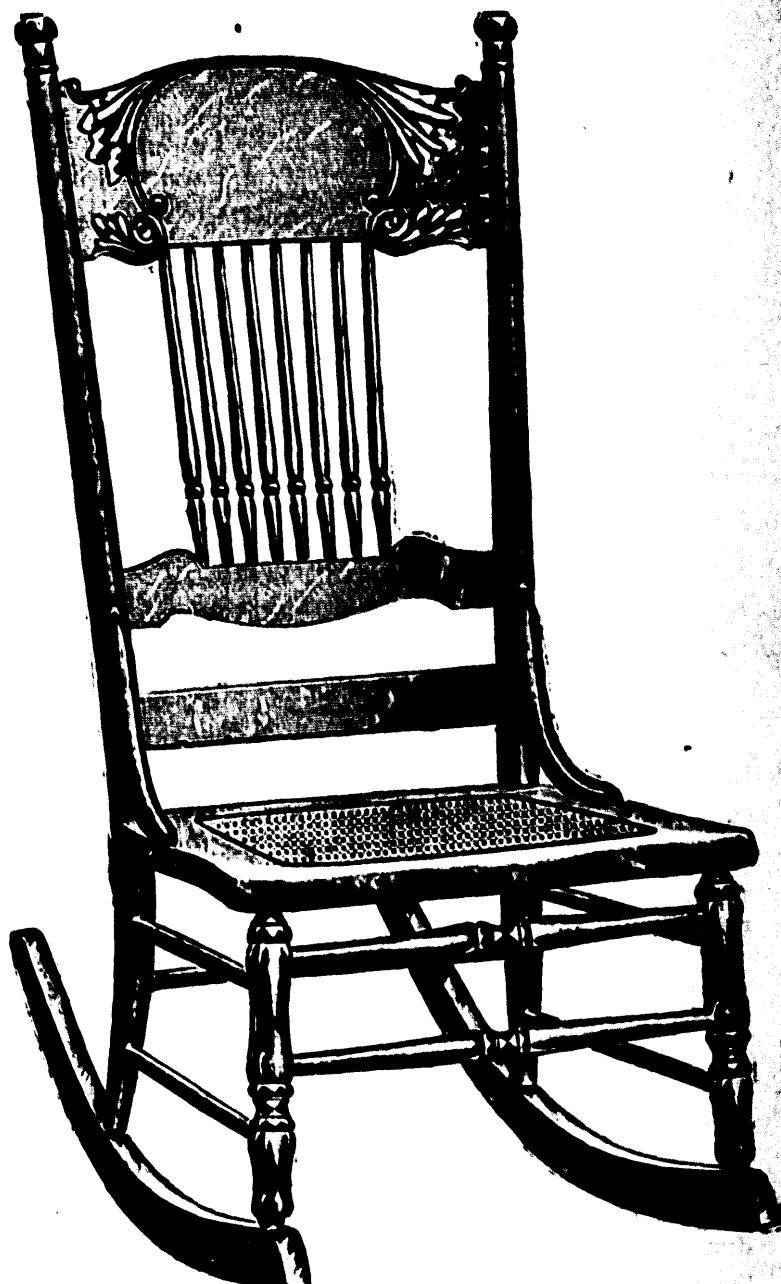

"Don't you like terrapin?" asked the senator from Maryland, and his tone of awe was as if he had asked, "Don't you breathe oxygen?"

"No," roiled the thunder again, "I don't like terrapin."

"Don't like terrapin?" repeated Senator Gibson feebly. "Don't like terrapin? Why?"—in the voice of one who reasons with a madman—"why don't you like terrapin?"

"Because, sir," thundered Senator Lindsay, "I come from a state where they raise nothing else. That's why, sir, that's why." —New York Commercial.

MONDAY, NOV. 8, 1897.

WHEN the prize fight crowd is tackled no guilty man should be allowed to escape.

"WHERE were the night policemen when the crowd of 50 gathered?" was a very often asked but unanswered street question today.

In recounting the wonders that Christianity had wrought in Japan, Prof. Fukushima stated that in twenty-five years without the start of a single man of war his country had built up the second greatest navy in the world. Whether Christianity will accept that as a compliment or otherwise is rather a doubtful question.

THE people of the city are indignant over the brutal prize fight that disgraced the city Sunday evening. There is a demand for prosecutions, in which case the attendants will be equally punishable with the participants. If a prize fight could disgrace a place like Carson City on a week day how will the public look upon Benton Harbor when the story of its bloody prize fight on Sunday is told?

THE appointment of Prof. Hamilton King as minister to Siam makes the Detroit Journal satisfied with the recognition Michigan has received from the president. That paper says: "The Journal is glad, too, to be able to record that the place has been awarded to a citizen of this state. It is true, that following established precedent, Michigan is entitled to an appointment of this class. Under the last administration a citizen of this state, Prof. John M. B. Sill, was made minister to Corea. By the selection of President Angell to the Turkish mission and that of Prof. King to that of Siam, we have acquired our quota of places in the diplomatic service, and with a distinct elevation as regards the rank of legations—speaking of these places in comparison with the missions which were conferred on Michigan men by the

the place they will fill, we have every reason to be satisfied."

Endure Hardship.
 As a gladiator trained the body, so must we train the mind to self sacrifice, "to endure all things," to meet and overcome difficulty and danger. We must take the rough and thorny road as well as the smooth and pleasant, and a portion at least of our daily duty must be hard and disagreeable, for the mind cannot be kept strong and healthy in perpetual sunshine only, and the most dangerous of all states is that of constantly recurring pleasure, ease and prosperity. Most persons will find difficulties and hardships enough without seeking them. Let them not repine, but take them as a part of that educational discipline necessary to fit the mind to arrive at its highest good.—New York Ledger.

Earnest Fights.
 "You men are too cold blooded and mercenary," said a young woman with a mission, according to the Indianapolis Journal. "You cannot make an earnest fight for principle as women do."
 "Ah," replied the man with a gift for epigram, "then I am to infer that it is principle that makes you scrap so earnestly at the bargain counter."

LITTLE ALICE M'CLUNG.

The Musical Wonder Will Appear Here Friday Evening.

Little Alice McClung, Michigan's wonderful nine year old musician, has been secured by the L. O. T. M. to appear in concert at Conkey's hall Friday evening, November 12.

She will be assisted by her seven-year-old sister, who possesses similar musical characteristics. Graff Clark the talented violinist, and some of the best local talent.

The large repertoire of this remarkable child includes masterpieces from the old and modern composers, all rendered with perfect technique and artistic interpretation. In addition to her phenomenal ability as a pianist she possesses the rare gift of absolute pitch or perfect tone perception. This enables her to write any music that she may hear while it is being played upon an instrument. An exhibition of this is given at the entertainment.

Among the many musicians who have given her letters of recommendation the following names from Chicago may be mentioned: W. S. B. Matthews, Harrison M. Wild, Dr. H. Perkins and Clement B. Shaw.

Theodore Thomas who recently made a thorough examination of Alice's musical ability pronounced her talent very great. He took the greatest interest in her, stating that he would watch her progress and expressed a wish to hear her again at some future time.

The following are selected from her many press notices:
"She is Marvelous," Chicago Musical Times.

"Her interpretation is artistic and a revelation to many advanced musicians. She is as great at her infant age as the greatest masters here." Holland City News.

"She is a musician of rare ability," South Bend Daily Times.

"Alice and Irene McClung, aged 9 and 7 years, gave a most delightful musical entertainment to a well filled house. The musical knowledge of these little people seem beyond the powers of human environment." The Dowagiac Standard.

Girls, and boys, will be taught to sew and make garments and will be thus educated to habits of industry. The promoters hope to have the hearty co-operation of all who are interested in benevolent work. Ladies can help by attending the meeting and receiving an assignment of work, by contributing and procuring for the school.

AMONG THE CRIMINALS.

Mrs. Newman Appears in Justice Cady's Court.

Mrs. Newman, living near Stevensville, who was arrested Saturday by Constable Sinsabaugh on a complaint sworn out by Mrs. Augusta Petzel, who alleges that the Newman woman had threatened her life with a revolver, was arraigned before Justice Cady Saturday and her hearing was set for next Thursday. She was released on her own recognizance. Some very unsavory stories in connection with the affair are told by Mrs. Newman, and her arrest, she says, is the result of attempt to persecute her.

George Congdon, held on a complaint of assault with intent to do great bodily harm, was unable to procure bail Saturday and was committed to the county jail to await his hearing next Friday.

Shot at Two Stars.
Bob Cunningham and two companions went coon hunting near Pulaski. Coons can be found only at night, and they are usually seen near a cornfield. The trio, with their dogs, had wandered about half the night, when Bob suddenly pulled up with "Hist! I see a big one." He became afflicted with a touch of the buck fever and danced about in a strange and weird manner. "Do you see his eyes?" he asked. "I'm going to shoot."

The gun went off and Bob said, with many an adjective, "I've missed him." He loaded up again and blazed away, and still he declared he saw the eyes. None of the other parties could see the first symptom of eyes, neither could they hear Mr. Coon rustling among the trees. Bob declared that he could, and he shot once more, but the "eyes" were still there.

He is a pretty good shot, and firing three times at so large an animal as a coon made him think, so he walked over to the tree where he saw the coon and took a good look, and then discovered that he had been shooting at two stars that were peeping from between the limbs of the tree. — New Castle Courant-Guardian.

The Second Attempt to Convict Luetgert of Murder Has Been Postponed.

M'LEAN HAS QUIT OHIO.

Thinks There is No Hope of Slipping
Into the Shoes of Senator Hanna.

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—According to the judicial calendar Adolph Luetgert should be placed on trial a second time today for the murder of his wife on the night of May 1. Instead of the matter being brought into court, however, attorneys Vincent and Phalen for the defense will endeavor to determine with State's Attorney Deneen what judge should try the case and the preliminaries to begin. The date originally settled on after the jury had reported its disagreement was Nov. 8, but subsequently, the reopening was deferred at the suggestion of both sides.

Mr. Vincent will do all in his power to have the start of the second trial delayed until the middle of next month. He claims his civil business has suffered from the long siege in the criminal court building and will require a great deal of time for its reconstruction. He says he will withdraw from the case altogether if Mr. Deneen refuses to agree to his plans.

"We will have to be allowed another month," said Mr. Vincent. "Besides my civil practice I find that a vast amount of new evidence in the case has to be examined before we could think of fixing the date. If I should find it necessary to withdraw I do not think it would be fair to throw the burden on a lawyer who is not familiar with the details without giving him an opportunity to adjust matters according to his own wishes."

Luetgert has decided that he must make a last rally before his new trial to regain the weight for which he was famous on the northwest side. He goes to bed regularly at 8 o'clock every night and sleeps ten hours in every twenty-four. Jailer Whitman visited Luetgert's cell last night five minutes after 8 o'clock and found him in deep slumber.

"This man can hold a record for sleeping," said Mr. Whitman, "if he would only lie down and make resolution not to open his eyes for several days. He is not in the least disconcerted by noises. Just as soon as he strikes the bunk he bids good-by to realities and is off in the land of nod."

Universalist bazar December 15 and 16.

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—Governor Pingree came to Chicago late Saturday evening and left yesterday afternoon. He gave strict instructions to Paul Gore, of the Auditorium Annex, to tell no one he was in town. Mr. Gore obeyed the order faithfully, but the governor's inner soul got the best of him in the afternoon, when he left his room in the Annex and hurried to the dining room, seeking for something to ease his hunger. And here it was that the "potato king" of Michigan ran amuck of several reporters.

With a long-drawn sigh he exclaimed, "Well, I'll be" and something else that does not look well in print. "I might as well be down south catching the yellow fever," the governor continued, "as to come to Chicago and be compelled to run a line of newspaper boys. It's all right, though, now that I'm caught. Fire away and just hear me talk."

Then Mr. Pingree leaned against the elevator door and folded his arms as if at peace with the world.

"Potatoes, mysterious disappearance, politics or anything will do," remarked one of his interviewers.

"Now, for potatoes I have nothing to say," he said. "Mysterious get away is an old talk. What does the public care even if I do go away for a few days on business. When all the papers thought I was lost I was only on a business trip. Before I left Detroit I told a number of friends that I was going away and asked them not to say anything about it. I did not think I was called upon to make a signed statement saying that I would be away. I've had lots of fun out of the thought. Politics broke about even at the last election. I am satisfied, Bill Jones is happy, and let it go at that," and then the governor dodged into the dining room.

M'LEAN QUILTS OHIO.

Politicians Say That He Concedes the State to the Republicans.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 8.—John R. McLean and party left yesterday for Washington. Mr. McLean has been considered the democratic candidate for senator, and his departure is regarded as an indication that he concedes the legislature to the republicans notwithstanding the numerous notices of contest. Before his departure Mr. McLean held a conference with Chairman McConville and other democratic leaders.

There is nothing known as to the probable policy of the democrats as a minority in the legislature, but it is believed they will join the anti-Hanna republicans in bringing out a new man for senator. The question has been raised as to whether 73 votes are necessary to elect a senator, that number being a majority of all. If a majority of a quorum only is necessary some might be sick or absent, as that would be less embarrassing than to be present and vote against a caucus nominee.

The point has been raised also as to succession to the governorship. If Governor Bushnell should be elected hold that a democratic senator would succeed Jones, and be in line for the governorship. Among the 19 conceded to the democrats in the senate is Senator Voight, of Cincinnati, a fusion republican, who holds the balance of power in that body, and he is noncommittal.

BOAT GOES DOWN.

Nineteen Men Lost on Lake Erie Saturday.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 8.—Nineteen lives were lost by the sinking of the steamer Idaho of the Western Transit line (New York Central) Saturday morning. The accident happened off Long Point, in Lake Erie, about sixty-five miles west of Buffalo, on the Canadian side. The Idaho, commanded by Capt. Alexander Gillies of Buffalo, and having on board a crew of twenty-one all told, left Buffalo on Friday afternoon laden with package freight for Milwaukee. A strong southwest gale was blowing at the time. The sea was running very high. Off Long Point the steamer shipped a big sea, which quenched the fires in the engines and the boat was helpless. The captain and crew were lowering the lifeboat when the vessel gave a lurch and went down on her side, stern first. Two of the crew, a deckhand named William Gill of Rochester, and the second mate, name unknown, managed to reach the top of a single spar that stood above the water. There they clung until eight hours later, when they were discovered by the outlook on the Mariposa of the Minnesota line.

so much to do, and all the time of earth, and heaven and hell are trying and God is at work and the universe is a-quake with the marching and countermarching, God lets his indignation fall upon a man who chooses idleness? I have watched these do-nothings who spend their time stroking their beard and retouching their toilet and criticizing industrious people and pass their days and nights in bar-rooms and clubhouses, lounging and smoking and chewing and card playing. They are not only useless, but they are dangerous. How hard it is for them to while away the hours!

Alas, for them! If they do not know how to while away an hour, what will they do when they have all eternity on their hands? These men for awhile smoke the best cigars and wear the best broad-cloth and move in the highest spheres, but I have noticed that very soon they come down to the prison, the almshouse or stop at the gallows.

The police stations of two of our cities furnish annually 200,000 lodgings. For the most part, these 200,000 lodgings are furnished to able-bodied men and women—people as able to work as you and I are. When they are received no longer at one police station, because they are "repeaters," they go to some other station, and so they keep moving around. They get their food at house doors, stealing what they can lay their hands on in the front basement while the servant is spreading the bread in the back basement. They will not work. Time and again, in the country districts, they have wanted hundreds and thousands of laborers. These men will not go. They do not want to work. I have tried them. I have set them to saving wood in my cellar, to see whether they wanted to work. I offered to pay them well for it. I have heard the saw going for about three minutes, and then I went down, and lo, the wood, but no saw!

Two Million Loafers.

They are the pest of society, and they stand in the way of the Lord's poor, who ought to be helped, and will be helped. While there are thousands of industrious men who cannot get any work, these men who do not want any work come in and make that plea. Sleeping at night at public expense in the station house; during the day, getting their food at your door-step. Imprisonment does not scare them. They would like it. Blackwell's Island or Moyamensing prison would be a comfortable home for them. They would have no objection to the almshouse, for they like thin soup, if they cannot get mock turtle.

I like for that class of people the scant bill of fare that Paul wrote out for the Thessalonian loafers, "If any work not, neither should he eat." By what law of God or man is it right that you and I should toil day in and day out until our hands are blistered and our arms ache and our brain gets numb, and then be called upon to support what in the United States are about 2,000,000 loafers! They are a very dangerous class. Let the public authorities keep their eyes on them.

Among the uprooting classes I place the oppressed poor. Poverty to a certain extent is chastening. But after that, when it drives a man to the wall and he hears his children cry in vain for bread, it sometimes makes him desperate. I think that there are thousands of honest men lacerated into vagabondism. There are men crushed under burdens for which they are not half paid. While there is no excuse for criminality, even in oppression, I state it as a simple fact that much of the scoundrelism of the community is consequent upon ill treatment. There are many men and women battered and bruised and stung until the hour of despair has come, and they stand with the ferocity of a wild beast which, pursued until it can run no longer, turns round, foaming and bleeding, to fight the hounds.

There is a vast underground city life that is appalling and shameful. It wallows and steams with putrefaction. You go down the stairs, which are wet and decayed with filth, and at the bottom you find the poor victims on the floor cold, sick, three-fourths dead, sinking into a still darker corner under the gleam of the lantern of the police. There has not been a breath of fresh air in that room for five years literally. There they are—men, women, children; blacks, whites; Mary Magdalene without her repentance and Lazarus without his God. These are the "dives" into which the pickpockets and the thieves go, as well as a great many who would like a different life, but cannot get it. These places are the sores of the city which bleed perpetual corruption. They are the underlying volcano that threatens us with a Caracac earthquake. It rolls and roars and surges and heaves and rocks and blasphemes and dies. And there are only two outlets for it—the police court and the potter's field. In other words, they must either go to prison or to hell. Oh, you never saw it, you say! You never will see it until on the day when these staggering wretches shall come up in the light of the judgment throne and while all hearts are being revealed God will ask you what you did to help them.

The Honest Poor.

There is another layer of poverty and destitution—not so squalid, but almost as helpless. You hear their incessant wailing for bread and clothes and fire. Their eyes are sunken. Their cheekbones stand out. Their hands are damp with slow consumption. Their flesh is puffed up with dropsies. Their breath is like that of a charnel house. They hear the roar of the wheels of fashion overhead and the gay laughter of men and maidens and wonder why God gave to others so much and to them so little; some of them thrust into an infidelity like that of the poor German girl who, when told in the midst of her wretchedness that God was good, she said: "No; no good God. Just look at me. No good God."

In these American cities, whose cry of want I interpret, there are hundreds and thousands of honest poor who are dependent upon individual, city and state charities. If all their voices could come up at once, it would be a groan that would shake the foundations of the city and bring all earth and heaven to the rescue. But, for the most part, it suffers unexpressed. It sits in silence, gnashing its teeth and sucking the blood of its own arteries, waiting for the judgment day. Oh, I should not wonder if on that day it would be found out that some of us had some things that belonged to them; some extra garment which might have made them comfortable on cold days; some bread thrust into the ash barrel that might have appeased their hunger for a little while; some wasted candle or gas jet that might have kindled up their darkness; some frock on the ceiling that would have given them a roof; some food which, however me and get it as much as I have, and make it! I have been almost frenzied with the perpetual cry for help from all classes and from all nations, knocking, knocking, ringing, ringing. If the roofs of all the houses of destitution could be lifted so we could look down into them just as God looks, whose nerves would be strong enough to stand it? And yet there they are.

The Highest Seats.

The sewing women, some of them in hunger and cold, working night after night, until sometimes the blood spurts from nostril and lip—how well their grief was voiced by that despairing woman who stood by her invalid husband and invalid child and said to the city missionary: "I am downhearted. Everything's against us, and then there are other things." "What other things?" said the city missionary. "Oh," she replied, "my sin." "What do you mean by that?" "Well," she said, "I never hear or see anything good. It's work from Monday morning to Saturday night, and then when Sunday comes I can't go out, and I walk the floor, and it makes me tremble to think that I have got to meet God. Oh, sir, it's so hard for us. We have to work so, and then we have so much trouble, and then we are getting along so poorly, and see this wee little thing growing weaker and weaker, and then to think we are getting no nearer to God, but floating away from him—oh, sir, I do wish I was ready to die!"

I should not wonder if they had a good deal better time than we in the future to make up for the fact that they had such a bad time here. It would be just like Jesus to say: "Come up and take the highest seats. You suffered with me on earth. Now be glorified with me in heaven." O thou weeping One of Bethany! O thou dying One of the cross! Have mercy on the starving, freezing, homeless poor of these great cities!

A Holler Baptism.

I want you to know who are the uprooting classes of society. I want you to be more discriminating in your charities. I want your hearts open with generosity and your hands open with charity. I want you to be made the sworn friends of all city evangelization, and all newsboys' lodging houses, and all children's aid societies. Aye, I want you to send the Dorcas society all the cast off clothing, that under the skillful manipulation of the wives and mothers and sisters and daughters these garments may be fitted on the cold, bare feet and on the shivering limbs of the destitute. I should not wonder if that hat that you give should come back a jeweled coronet, or that garment that you this week hand out from your wardrobe should mysteriously be whitened and somehow wrought into the Saviour's own robe, so in the last day he would run his hand over it and say, "I was naked and ye clothed me." That would be putting your garments to glorious uses.

Besides all this, I want you to appreciate in the contrast how very kindly God has dealt with you in your comfortable homes, at your well filled tables and at the warm registers, and to have you look at the round faces of your children and then at the review of God's goodness to you go to your room and lock the door and kneel down and say: "O Lord, I have been an ingrate! Make me thy child. O Lord, there are so many hungry and unclad and unsheltered today, I thank thee that all my life thou hast taken such good care of me! O Lord, there are so many sick and crippled children today, I thank thee mine are well, some of them on earth, some of them in heaven! Thy goodness, O Lord, breaks me down! Take me once and forever. Sprinkled as I was many years ago at the altar, while my mother held me, now I consecrate my soul to thee in a holler baptism of repenting tears.

"For sinners, lord, thou canst't to bleed,
And I'm a sinner vile indeed.
Lord, I believe thy grace is free.
Oh, magnify that grace in me!"

Trolley Car Harems.

One of the questions that agitated Cairo last winter was, "How can the street railway company be compelled to carry more effectually the trolley car harems?" A large part of the city, and by no means the European section exclusively, is served by a rapid transit system. The cars do not differ materially from the open cars employed on American lines, but the rear seat is reserved for women instead of smokers, and its use is indicated by curtains that might be drawn, but in practice are not drawn, at the sides. There is no curtain in front to divide the harem from the other seats, and on an important route, like that, for example, from the Ezbeklyeh through the Boulevard Mehmet Ali to Old Cairo, the ceaseless chatter of its black cloaked, black veiled occupants, regardless of the silk robed men in front and the red night capped hangers on at the sides, gives a hysterical suggestion of a picnic attended by masked mourners.

Many of the solid Moslems of Cairo are disquieted by the publicity of the street car harems, and their feelings are understood and to some extent shared by a few of the Anglo-Egyptians of the second and third generations. The short line of the Constantinople underground railway is more mindful of Moslem customs. The harem divisions of its cars are fully curtained. But these divisions are too small to hold the women who flock from the Galata-Pera sections during shopping hours to the bazaars of Stamboul, and there is usually an overflow in the main part of the car. No seats are provided, and the privacy of the Turkish woman, home-bound at sunset after a war of wits with the stately diplomats of the oriental bargain counters, is comparable to that of the standing throng in a rush trip on a Brooklyn bridge car.—Cosmopolitan Magazine.

H. V. Tutton's Testimony
in the Peterson Criminal Proceedings.

DOCTOR IS VERY CAUTIOUS.

He Dwells at Length on the Various Causes of Insanity.

The criminal proceeding against Peter Peterson for the attempted murder of Miss Eliza Harris, who refused to become his wife, was resumed in the circuit court this morning. The court room was again thronged with spectators who listened intently to the causes of insanity as described by Expert Witness Dr. H. V. Tutton. The doctor sat in the witness chair under the cross-
A few friends were very pleasantly entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Irving Jaquay at their home, at 114 Lake avenue, Saturday evening. Miss Cora Osborn favored the guests with several instrumental selections. Dainty refreshments were served. The young couple received the hearty congratulations and best wishes of all present.

The cross examination of Dr. H. V. Tutton by Attorney Gore was continued this morning. The doctor testified that the emotions might acquire such prominence as to dominate the intellect and the will. This result might be produced suddenly or by the action of some cause acting slowly but with gradually increasing effect. The admission was received with considerable satisfaction by the defense.

Some emotions, the doctor said, were more frequently the result of disorders than others. Those emotions having to deal with the affections were most often traceable to diseased conditions. When the mind is diseased so that the seat of the trouble is always in the mind the emotions would be evidence of disease and the disease of melancholia would be indicated by a disordered emotion of a sorrowful character. He testified that homicide and suicide resulted often from diseases which produced emotional disturbances.

Insanity, the doctor said, might be produced from blows on the head, from inflammation caused by blood clots on the brain and by loss of sleep. He would not admit that sleeplessness was a frequent cause of insanity, or that all authorities laid sleeplessness down as a cause. He said the sudden transition of a person from a state of supreme and perfect happiness and bliss to one of disappointment, despair and gloom sometimes produced insanity. You determined that the mind was disordered by the fact that his conduct was abnormal or disordered. The moral faculty was the last of all to be acquired and the first to suffer when disease entered the mental organs. One of the first symptoms of insanity was the deadening of the moral sense. This perversion, he said, could not be total without some perversion of intellect. When homicide resulted from a mania the criminal feels relieved when the deed is done for the reason that he no longer suffers the extraordinary disquiet previously felt.

Persons having attempted murder under an impulse of homicidal mania, the witness said, always display indifference to the nature of what they have done. It was also brought out that the doctor has been the medical adviser of the family for eight years. He is very cautious in his replies.

Judge Coolidge told THE NEWS this morning that the defendants in the injunction proceeding against Benton Harbor and St. Joseph by the Michigan Bell telephone company desired to file further briefs and that the case would not be decided until that had been done.

Circuit Court Commissioner St. Clair, to whom Judge Coolidge referred the matter of computing damages suffered by Michael J. Galligan by reason of the injunction issued against him on petition of the Milwaukee, Benton Harbor & Columbus railway, fixed the amount at $150 and has so reported to the circuit court for confirmation.

Lawyers O'Hara and Gore are preparing the papers for the appeal of the Hickory Creek drain case to the circuit court.

CURED OF SCROFULA.

ALLEGAN, Mich., Sept. 3.—For the benefit of suffering humanity I wish to state that for seven years I was a great sufferer from scrofula and blood trouble, having a very bad limb all of those years. My limb was a raw sore from the knee to the ankle, and it had been impossible to find relief or help. My health was very poor from the condition of my blood. After all of these years of suffering I became discouraged and had about given up being any better.

I was advised to call on Drs. B. S. & Co. when at Allegan. They told me they could help me. I believed they knew their business and commenced treatment at that time. This was in 1893. I began to improve at once and continued to improve until my limb was well and my health was good, and I have remained well and I feel that I cannot thank Drs. B. S. & Co. enough for what they have done for me. After seven years with other skillful doctors and to get no better I feel that I must sing their praises. I am in hopes that all sick and afflicted will see Drs. B. S. & Co. before it is too late. They are all right and gentlemen of honor.
